Concept: Discover Tomorrow School Value: Excellence

Prizegiving

I am looking forward to the last of our end of year prizegiving celebrations tonight at 6pm. Congratulations to those who were selected for each award. This is also affirmation of your work as parents in supporting your children's learning. The final prizegiving for Years 7 and 8 is also a farewell to our graduates, many of who have been part of Sutton Park School for their entire primary education. We are sad to see them leave, but excited for what is ahead for them.

Special congratulations to the entire staff for collating and putting the prizegiving ceremonies on-line. We will review how well these have been put together, in case we are going to repeat it next year. This will enable us to do it even better, in the future.

If you missed any of the prizegiving, you can view the online ceremonies by visiting the Sutton Park School website and click on the red button on the left '2021 ONLINE PRIZE GIVING'. Then select the prizegiving video you want to watch.

Water Safety Code

Knowing the water safety code will help keep people safe around coastal and freshwater sites this summer:

- Be prepared. Check the weather forecast and know the local environment. Set rules for safe play. Rain may reduce water quality or cause flooding in streams and rivers.
- Look out for yourself and others. Always supervise children around water and keep children under five years within arm's reach; never swim alone and don't pressure your friends to get into the water if they're not confident. Always fish or paddle with a buddy and know where and how to use public rescue equipment such as life rings.
- Be aware of the dangers. It's the unknown, what lies below the surface and not knowing the depth of the water. Submerged rocks, debris and underwater currents pose dangers. Cold water will fatigue you. Get out of the water before you get tired.
- Know your limits. Challenge yourself within your abilities and skill level; know what you can and can't do in open water. Once again, don't be pressured into going into the water if you can't swim or aren't confident.

As Tāmaki Makaurau, Auckland ventures out of restrictions, and flocks to our beautiful waterways, Drowning Prevention Auckland is urging people to be prepared this summer and be extra careful in, on and around the water.

Now is a great time to be checking fencing and gates around home pools, reviewing boating equipment, and lifejackets for wear and tear, and for planning your trips to the many coastal and freshwater waterways across Tāmaki Makaurau. Stand-up paddling (SUP) activity has increased during lockdown. Check your board, leash and lifejacket before each use – a good tip is to paddle into the wind first but be mindful of tidal change.

The best thing you can do is be prepared. Check the weather forecast and check the Safeswim platform (www.safeswim.org.nz) before you leave. Fishing off rocks can be dangerous, always wearing a lifejacket will assist you to float until help arrives. Conditions can change quickly and can make the difference between a fun day or tragic day with your family and friends.

la fa'aogā le ofu lavea'i i taimi uma."*
